

KOINER'S SALARY MAY NOT BE LEGAL

Attorney-General in Doubt When Sum Was Increased During Term of Office.

SUGGESTION WAS NOT HEEDDED

Legislature Imperiled Even Old Salary, in Judge Williams's Opinion.

In the annual report of Attorney-General Samuel W. Williams, made public yesterday, there appears an interesting and hitherto unpublished opinion as to whether or not the action of the last Legislature in increasing the salary of the Commissioner of Agriculture was in conflict with the Constitution. The Attorney-General himself was involved in great doubt on the subject, so much so that he advised that the additional $700 a year voted Mr. Koiner during his term of office be appropriated separately, so that if the matter was tested in the courts and the increase deemed unconstitutional, he would still have his old salary of $2,800.

However, the Legislature apparently paid no attention to this decision of the Attorney-General, for it increased the Commissioner's salary to $3,500 without making a separate item of the added sum. This would, under Judge Williams's ruling, make it doubtful whether Mr. Koiner now legally draws any part of it, even the former $2,800.

Governor Asked for Ruling.
On March 1, 1912, Governor Mann wrote the Attorney-General, calling his attention to the fact that in the pending general appropriation bill it was proposed to increase the salaries of the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Commissioner of Labor and the Superintendent of Public Printing. The Governor asked if this was in conflict with Section 83 of the Constitution, which provides: "The salary of each officer of the executive department, except in those cases where the salary is determined by law, shall be fixed by law; and the salary of no such officer shall be increased or diminished during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed."

In the cases of Commissioner Doherty and Superintendent Bottom, who received increases from $2,000 to $2,200 each the year, the Attorney-General held that their new terms were in beginning on March 1 of last year, and that any amount prescribed by the Legislature would be fixing, and not either raising or lowering, their salaries, since neither had yet received any salary at all until it was appropriated by the Legislature.

Question in Grave Doubt.
However, coming to the Commissioner of Agriculture, Judge Williams said it was clearly a constitutional question, being prescribed by Section 115, and Mr. Koiner was then in the middle of his term, which began on February 1, 1910. The only question to consider, therefore, was as to whether he should be classed as "an officer of the executive department."

"The books seemed to hold," said the Attorney-General, "that any officer charged with any duty in connection with the executive department."

His Landlady's Advice Probably Saved His Life

I feel that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root saved my life. I inherited weak kidneys. The discharge was so frequent and painful that I would have to stay in bed to obtain temporary relief. I consulted good physicians, but the results were disappointing. My landlady advised me to try Swamp-Root. The last resort, which I did, and I was quickly relieved.

I continued taking Swamp-Root and my weight has increased fifty pounds. My health is of the best, and I have told many others about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and have done a lot of good in this way. Your wonderful medicine is of great value to mankind. Yours very truly, with the enforcement of laws is an executive officer. He then made the following suggestion as to what might be done to raise the salary: "In view of the uncertainty or doubt existing as to whether the language, 'an officer of the executive department,' as used in Section 113 of the Constitution only applies to the officers mentioned in Article V of the Constitution, under the head of 'executive department,' or whether it applies to all officers, I take the liberty of suggesting that the following course be pursued, namely, that the Legislature should appropriate the sum of $2,800 to pay the salary of the Commissioner of Agriculture and Immigration, as now provided by law, for the years 1912 and 1913, and then let the appropriation bill provide for an additional $700 a year for 1912 and 1913 as an increase of his salary, and if the matter is submitted to the courts and it is held that the increase of the salary is unconstitutional and consequently void, then the appropriation of $2,800 annually would remain in full force, but if the appropriation is in a lump sum of $3,500, and the courts should hold it unconstitutional, then a doubt might arise as to whether the Commissioner could receive the salary of $2,800 under the law in that shape, and for this reason I suggest the course above indicated in order to remove any possible doubt on the subject."

However, the Legislature either thought the Attorney-General was mistaken, or else was willing to take a chance on the constitutional point, for it raised the salary and did not adopt his precaution.

DEBATE IN HOUSE ON TARIFF BILL GROWING BITTER

administration was made by Representative Hamilton, of Michigan.

"In his inaugural address, leaning down from the heights of altruism, the new President," said Mr. Hamilton, "told his followers, in a language that none of them understood, that the nation was intending to use them for a large and definite purpose."

"This gave general satisfaction until it was explained to them that it did not involve their employment in an official capacity. The Postmaster-General, however, is the connecting link between altruism and appetite, and understood to be giving diligent consideration to a method of simplified class postmasters, designed to give the government an opportunity to use its brethren more largely for definite purposes."

Mr. Hamilton said free raw wool would be sent to the American wool grower out of business.

Calls It a Compromise.
Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois, speaking for the Progressives, said he believed the compromise between the power of special privilege and the power of political patronage.

"This bill," he declared, "could not be passed without the tremendous prospect of political patronage. The prospect of patronage, plums to be handed out as soon as the tariff bill is passed is exceedingly effective. Every special interest in the nation has filed its bill and used every ounce of pressure to have certain special interests defeated in this house and they will naturally keep up their fight in the Senate. And when the measure is passed it will represent a compromise between the power of special privilege and the power of political patronage."

"The two old parties," he declared, "are arguing for a tariff commission, 'are' dropping the tariff, the bone of contention over which they have snapped and growled for more than two generations and by means of which they have alternately hoodwinked the people into giving them office."

Representative Barkley, of Kentucky, Democrat, assailed the tariff commission proposal of the Progressives, whom he described as a "mere branch shoot from the trunk of Republicanism."

He declared that the American people never has and never would agree to delegate power to tax them to any commission. The Democrats, he added, had always stood for revenue only and he insisted no party had "a moral right to tax for anything but revenue for the conduct of government."

Heated Debate Over Cotton.
The cotton schedule of the tariff bill was the subject of a lengthy and heated debate in the House of Representatives. Gardner, of Massachusetts, and Green, of Iowa, presented a report on a subcommittee committee of the Ways and Means Committee, Republicans, setting forth that they had been unable to frame a complete schedule for the cotton schedule of the Underwood bill. They said they had not been unable to frame a complete schedule upon which to draft cotton schedule.

A Republican caucus last week instructed the Ways and Means Committee to report a bill in accordance with the report of the late tariff Board on cotton and cotton goods. In the last Congress former Representative Hall, of Connecticut, offered a cotton schedule which was approved by the Republicans in the House. Representatives Gardner and Green to-day introduced a bill which was founded on a broad basis, and that many of the rates were erroneous.

Representative Green, of Massachusetts, presented a protest from the executive committee of the Fall River Bicycle Manufacturers' Association, which he said represented 40,000 operatives and $60,000,000 of capital, against the Underwood bill.

MAD DOG KILLED.
Rabid Animal Chases Children Into Police Station.

When a mad dog dashed through Smith Street last night shortly after 11 o'clock, dozens of children who were playing nearby rushed into the police station for safety. An officer hurried into the street to kill the animal, which the children said, disappeared. A short while later a call was sent to the station that the dog had been killed with a stick by a citizen at Monroe and Marshall Streets.

A few minutes later another call came to the effect that the animal had not been killed, but merely knocked unconscious, and was rapidly recovering. Bicycle Police were sent to investigate, and found the dog about to rise to its feet. A shot from his revolver put an end to its existence. It was as could be learned no one was bitten.

British Steamer Floated.
Norfolk, Va., April 24.—The British steamer Harlowen, which struck the beach here near the life-saving station this evening, was floated late to-night. Nine vessels went to the aid of the steamer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION ENDS

Judge Pritchard, Retiring President, Urges Parents to Properly Train Children.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Greensboro, N. C., April 24.—A large part of the session of the North Carolina State Sunday School Convention this morning was occupied with taking pledges from the county associations for carrying on the work of the State association during the coming year, and added to the sum previously pledged, amounted to $3,400. Two addresses were delivered during this session, the speakers being Rev. J. T. Rowe and Hon. W. A. Weatherston.

The subjects presented were, "Basic Principles for Successful Teachers in Sunday Schools," and "Prohibition, Law Enforcement and New Legislation."

Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, delivered the only address at the afternoon session.

Visiting delegates to the convention are local Sunday school workers to the number of several hundred joined in the street parade at the close of the afternoon session. No remarks made to the convention have been more impressive than those of Judge Pritchard regarding the importance of Christian training in the home. He said that while the Sunday school can accomplish all that it is claimed for it, the home is back of the Sunday school, and that unless parents discharge their duty in teaching children reverence for God and obedience to law, the Sunday school cannot accomplish its greatest work.

This appeal for parents to realize fully their responsibility in training their children in their homes was especially earnest.

During the course of his remarks as retiring president of the State Sunday School Association, Judge Pritchard reiterated his interest in Sunday school and all other Christian work, and said that the time never would come when he would not use his influence for God and the right.

He spoke also of his interest in prohibition, and said that his prayer daily is that never again a drop of intoxicants will be sold on North Carolina soil.

The convention closed with the session this evening. Rev. Platt Durham of Winston-Salem, and R. A. Waite, of New York, were the speakers.

The reports of the convention committees were submitted at this time. Banners of efficient work the past year were presented to the county associations of Randolph, Rowan, Guilford, Wilson, Wayne and Duplin Counties.

The following-named were elected officers of the State Sunday School Association for the coming year: President, J. A. Brown, of Chatham; vice-presidents, Rev. J. K. Pohl, of Winston-Salem; Rev. E. H. Kochitzky, of Meigs; G. C. Briggs, of Waynesville; general secretary, J. W. Long; office secretary, Miss Martha Dozier; treasurer, W. M. Combs, all of Greensboro; chairman of executive committee, Dr. W. A. Harper, of Elon College; vice-chairman, Arthur D. Houghton, of Raleigh. Winston-Salem was selected as the place for holding the convention next year.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., April 24.—At the home of the bride's parents, Miss Sallie Olivia Moorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moorman, was married to Joseph Mosher Hawkins, of Plainfield, N. J., Dr. W. W. Hamilton, of the First Baptist Church, being the celebrant.

Miss Leon Moorman, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Curtis Moorman, her brother, was the best man. After a visit to Atlantic City they will go to Plainfield.

Grimes-Dent.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Alexandria, Va., April 24.—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Edith Virginia Dent, of Alexandria, to Mr. Grimes, both of this city. The ceremony took place Tuesday last at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Moorman, of Plainfield, N. J., and was performed by Rev. C. R. Strauburg, pastor of that church.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dent, and formerly of Brookline Station, Stafford County.

Child Burned to Death.
Wilmington, N. C., April 24.—While the parents were gathering fruit in their fields near the town of Rock Hill, a seven-months-old daughter of Carlo Bonincinotti and wife, members of an Italian colony at St. Helena, was burned to death when their home was destroyed by fire. Another child, who was seriously injured, was shot and killed a year ago to-day.

Some time between now and the end of the month the matter will be presented to Judge Peatross for decision. Should he declare that the election was constitutional, the contesting factions will in all probability take the matter to a higher court; if unconstitutional a new election will be held.

Much speculation is being indulged in here on the outcome of this new problem. The prohibition forces appear to have been taken by surprise, and have given out no statement.

SUIT IS BROUGHT FOR BIG DAMAGES.
Young Woman Accuses Doctors of Malpractice and Asks $25,000 Damages.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Farmville, Va., April 24.—A trial of unusual interest is in progress in the Circuit Court of Prince Edward, Judge George J. Hundley presiding. It is the case of Thackston against Drs. W. E. Anderson and R. L. Hudgins, the charge being malpractice on a young woman who was seriously burned three years ago. The case was removed from Cumberland County to Prince Edward. The jury is composed of Cumberland citizens residing in the lower end of that county. The chief witness for the plaintiff was her sister and a doctor from Baltimore, who testified as an expert.

The testimony for the plaintiff was concluded last yesterday, when the defense rested its case, with Dr. Hudgins on the stand.

Among the witnesses for the defense to-day was Dr. Robert C. Bryan, of Richmond, who was on the stand one hour or more. The evidence for the defense will be concluded to-morrow, with the testimony of Dr. Stuart McGuire.

The suit is brought for $25,000. Miss Thackston was accidentally burned in December, 1909, the injury involving a large part of her right limb above the knee. She was confined to bed for many months. It is alleged that the treatment given her by the two doctors resulted in such a contraction of the limb to the extent of shortening it fully two and one-half inches, making her a cripple for life. The case is expected to reach the jury late to-morrow or Saturday morning.

The attorneys for the plaintiff are Lester & Hester of Lynchburg, and the defense is by W. Anderson, of Richmond, and Dr. Anderson and Hudgins & McNeil, the former being a brother of Dr. Hudgins.

IS IT ANY WONDER
That People Suffer With Stomach Trouble?

Some people spend money all their lives trying to find a cure for stomach trouble, and often die from the cause that they have spent their life-long time and money trying to cure, but never reach the cause. Here is a case that should enlighten some of the stomach sufferers, especially chronic cases: Mr. J. W. Hogan, who resides at 1409 East Iowa Street, Evansville, Ind., is a car repairer at the J. C. R. R. shops. This man has been a constant sufferer with nervousness, so bad he would jump out of bed at night and walk around, get a drink of water, or a piece of something to eat; his appetite was very good most of the time, but many times after eating a heavy meal he would be nauseated, or throw it up. He became very weak and run down, had lumbago, pains in back. He had used very many different treatments without getting any benefit. Although he continued working, at times it was under an awful strain. He felt he could not afford to lose any time so he kept plugging along, in hope some day he might find something that would give him relief. And his hope finally came true when the Health Teacher came to Evansville. He was the person who brought the long looked for cure for chronic stomach trouble. Mrs. Hogan had been reading the paper and saw where many people were being cured by the use of the wonderful Quaker Herb Remedies. She told her husband about it; she called on Gray, the health teacher, at the drug store, after hearing and seeing the people by the dozens purchasing and some reporting the great benefits they were receiving from the use of Quaker remedies, she decided to take three bottles, and three weeks later she returned and told Gray that her husband had expelled a worm from eight to twelve inches in length, and his nervousness had all disappeared, and he was feeling fine. She said: "I have been cured by the use of the extract myself, for I have been in bad health for some time with my liver, kidneys and bowels, and I, too, am feeling very much better, and believe Quaker is the best medicine in the world, for when it has done for us in this case, what else can we have been years trying to find. I know it is worth its weight in gold." Gray, the Quaker health teacher, who is now at Tragle's drug store, said: "These are some of the causes of chronic stomach trouble, and in fact many cases of stomach trouble, in fact many cases of stomach trouble, seldom you ever hear it said that worms are the cause. There's where the Quaker Herb Extract displays its power, because it will expel any worm from man, woman or child, cures rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder and blood trouble, indigestion, constipation, builds up weak, run down systems. Call to-day at Tragle's drug store. It costs nothing to talk to Gray. If you can't call, order by mail. Quaker Herb Extract, $1.00, 3 for $2.50; Oil of Balm, 50c; Cough Syrup, 25c; Salves for Piles, Old Sores, etc. We prepare all charges on orders of $3.00 or over. Send post-office or express money order. Gray, the Quaker health teacher, can be seen from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. daily.—Advertisement.
